Miss Horton, Virginia, DAUGHTERS OF THE CONFEDERACY The Richmond Chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy met and adopted restutions of sympathy for Mrs. Davis. the opening of the meeting Mrs. N. V. Randolph, who presided, said:

"Before opening our business meeting, I must pause to express, in my poor way, he sorrow that I am sure has filled the neart of every southern woman in the past three weeks, while our whole country is mourning the loss of its dear ones in bat-tles and hospitals. The sympathy and love of the South has gone out to our beloved old general, Joseph Wheeler, How we followed him with pride as in days gone by; how we wept with him in the death of his youngest, his well beloved.
"Not ten days after the papers state:
"Died, in Norfolk, Mrs. Page Wailer, only daughter of Mrs. J. E. B. Stuart." What sofrow no one but a mother can appre-ciate. Mrs. Stuart, the wife of the gal-lant Stuart, the idol of the southern people, the woman who has so nobly her part, who has not only educated and cared for her children, but at her own expense and by her hard work has edu-cated, free of charge, twenty girls of the South and thus given them a start in life. The women of the South mourn with her.

"Surely here we thought would be a pause in our grief. But yesterday there flashed over the wire the death of 'Win-nie Davis,' as all the South loved to call her; 'the Daughter of the Confederacy,' as the veterans have named her. To her mother what can we say but that we mourn with her? Never before since the sorrowful days of 1861-65 has there been so great distress, for our General in his grief, for the wives of those that the people loved to honor, Mrs. Stuart, and last in wee but first in the hearts of the her; 'the Daughter of the Confederacy,

The following resolutions were then

Resolved. That the Richmond Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, do, with hearts full of grief and sym-pathy, desire to express their great sorrow at the blow which has failen on them in the death of "The Daughter of the Confederacy," Winnie Davis. Born amid sorrows, buffeted by the winds of adversity, she yet lived to prove herself the noble daughter of a grand sire—the child of the Confederacy. She was the typical southern woman, and every southern heart is proud to claim her.

To the grief-stricken mother, who has already borne so much and lived through so many tragedies, we, her other Daughters of the Confederacy, can only offer our tender love and earnest prayers; be our tender love and earnest prayers: be Resolved. United Sons of Confederate Veterans, Charleston, S. C., Soptember 19, 1898, General Order, No. 11. The announcement of the death of Miss Winnie Davis, "the Daughter of the Con-federacy," will bring sorrow and sadness to the hearts of every son of those noble warriors in gray who served under her father in the war for States' rights. While they reverenced her as the daughter of Jefferson Davis, they had learned to esteem and love her for her charming personality and her devotion to the cause of the survivors of the Confederacy. Her presence at so many of their reunions, and her gracious courte-sies and attentions to those gray-haired veterans, had endeared her to all. Mrs. Lizzie Beverly, 258 Merrimae St., Lowell, Mass., writes:

"It affords me great pleasure to tell all suffering women of the benefit I have received from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I can hardly find words to express my gratitude for what she has done for me. My trouble was ulceration of the womb. I was under the doctor's care. Upon examination he found fifteen very large ulcers, but he failed to do me good. I took several bottlesof Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, also used the Sanative Wash, and am cured. Mrs. Pinkham's medicine saved my life, and I would recommend it to all suffering women." Mrs. Amos TROMBLEAY, Ellenburgh Ctr., N. Y., writes:

"I took cold at the time my baby was born, causing me to have milk legs, and was sick in bed for eight weeks. Doctors did me no good, I surely thought I would die. I was also troubled with falling of the womb. I could not eat, had faint spells as often as ten times a day. One day a lady came to see me and told me of the benefit she had derived from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine, and advised me to try it. I did so, and had taken only half a bottle before I was able to sit in a chair. After taking three bottles I could do my own work. I am now in perfect health."

THE WOES OF HIS DEPARTMENT. WAR CAME WITHOUT WARNING.

No Branch of the Department Prepared for Equipping and Handling Volunteer Army-Camp Commanders Responsible for Suffering. CHATTANOOGA, TENN., September 22.-Secretary Alger, who arrived last night, was out early to-day. About 9 clock the Secretary, and Surgeon-General Sternberg, accompanied by Brigadier-General Boynton, left for Chickamauga Park, where they spent the day in a critical inspection of the hospitals, over which there has been so much controversy. Before leaving Chattanooga, Secretary Alger said to a reporter: "The press has been disposed to exaggerate the condition of some of the camps, and things have been charged against the War Department which were untrue and unwarranted. I want all the facts to come out, and

The department had only a limited supply of tents, and it had practically no wagons and ambulances, to start with. There were a thousand and one details to be looked after, and a fairly-disposed public will understand the disadvantages under which the War Department worked for which the war Department worked for many weeks. As fast as possible, equip-ment and supplies were sent to the seve-ral camps, and if there has been lack of medicines and necessaries of life, the fault lies with the commanding officers of tent officers, generals, and colonels in charge of some of the camps, and if such is found to be the case they will be held strictly to account for their mis INCOMPETENTS TO BE RELIEVED. "If there are any commanding officers who are now incompetent or who fail to put their camps in first-class condition and keep them that way. I propose they shall be replaced by men who are com-petent, and who will see that perfect sani-
